

Novus® Arkansas, LLC

RC14001® 5.2, Environmental, Health, Safety, Security, and Quality Policy

Purpose and Responsibilities

Novus Arkansas, LLC’s Environmental, Health, Safety, Security, and Quality commitments are based upon the belief that continual improvement in these areas is critical to achieve manufacturing excellence in the operation of our facilities and to provide products that meet or exceed the customer’s expectations for quality and feed safety. This is accomplished by:

- Ensuring that our operations are safe for stakeholders (e.g. our employees, contractors, and neighbors) and the environment.
- Producing and distributing products that are safe.
- Continually improving our processes for both cost and safety advantages and to prevent or minimize pollution.
- Empowering our employees to contribute to the overall growth and safe operation of our facility.
- Operating the facility under our Quality Management System to comply with current quality and feed safety standards.
- Employing and developing people with the right skills and competencies to operate our facility safely and productively.
- Ensuring we operate our facilities within the applicable corporate, legal, and regulatory requirements.
- A commitment to the American Chemistry Council Responsible Care® Guiding Principles.
- Practicing an “open door” policy so anyone may express concerns without retribution.

Scope
